Polish Premier In London

Will Have Talks With Chamberlain and Halifax

LONDON, Nov. 14.

General Sikorski, Polish Prime Minister, arrived by air at Heston this morning on an official visit to Britain where he and other members of his staff will be guests of His Majesty's Government. He was received at the air port by representatives of Prime Minister, the Foreign Secretary, War Office and Governor's Hospitality Fund.

General Sikorski will engage in talks with Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Halifax and all four Defence Ministers as well as the Chief of Imperial General Staff. To-night, Polish visitors will be the guests of the Prime Minister at an official dinner.

After being received in audience by the King to-morrow, Gen. Sikorski and M. Zaleski, the Polish Foreign Minister, will lunch with [illegible] Palace. A dinner in honour of the visit will be given at the Polish Embassy to-morrow night.

General Sikorski, who is the author of many books on military strategy, first became known in the West for his stubborn defence of Warsaw's Northern Front against the Red Army under Tukhachevskoy in 1920. In 1922, he became Polish Prime Minister for the first time, retiring into private life in 1926.—B.O.W.

HITLER AND STALIN: PLANS AND COUNTER-PLANS

PARIS, Nov. 14.

The real struggle lies between Herr Hitler and M. Stalin, declares a neutral correspondent of "Temps" with neutral connections in Germany.

He says that Herr Hitler has been cherishing the idea of ousting M. Stalin substituting M. Molotov and bringing a real programme of evolution in Russia with the complicity of M. Molotov who is a German-Phile and has married a German woman. M. Stalin on the other hand, continues the correspondent, feels that now is the time to realise his aims regarding Poland and the Baltic and to Bolshevise Germany while awaiting an opportunity to Bolshevise all Western Europe. M. Stalin appears to be pushing Germany into taking an offensive in the West, thus preventing the Reichswehr chiefs from attempting an internal 'putsch' and establishing an army dictatorship, the object of which would be an understanding with Britain and the prevention of the Bolshevisation of Germany and Western Europe.—Reuter.

SOVIET BAN ON RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES.

LONDON, Nov. 14.

The latest developments in Russia show increased anti-religious activity, according to the Vatican wireless which says that religious gatherings of children are absolutely forbidden and those responsible will be severely punished. Judges have been ordered to impose death penalty on all participants in religious demonstrations irrespective of age.—Reuter.

ROME, Nov. 14.

Sixty-two merchantmen sunk in Spanish ports in the civil war have been raised, according to a Madrid telegram.—Reuter.

Pentangular Cricket

Great Carnival To Open To-day

Hindus To Meet Europeans In First Encounter At Brabourne Stadium

THE stage is all set and the curtain will be rung up to-day at the Brabourne Stadium when the Pentangular Tournament, the Great Cricket Carnival which has earned for Bombay City the name of "Home of Indian Cricket," will commence with C. K. Nayudu, the idol of innumerable fans all over the country, leading the formidable Hindu team against the Europeans. The two teams are:

Hindus	Europeans
MAJOR C. K. NAIDU (Captain),	R. ASHLEY (Captain),
L. AMARNATH,	R. F. MOSS,
L. AMAR SINGH,	A. F. WENSLEY,

R. J. GHARAT,	F. J. G. WALKER.
H. ADHIKARI,

MAJOR C. K. NAIDU leads the Hindus.

R. ASHLEY LEADS THE EUROPEANS

Hindus v. Europeans

BY J. C. MAITRA.

The stage is now set for the great Cricket Carnival which has made Bombay the 'Mecca' of Indian Cricket. All eyes are turned towards the Brabourne Stadium where the festival will be held and all roads will lead to the same spot for the next fortnight or so. The curtain will be raised this morning at 10-45 a.m. with the Hindus facing the Europeans. If the attendances at the various Gymkhanas during the Trial matches are any indication, it may be safely predicted that the ensuing Pentangular will rouse as much interest and enthusiasm among the public as in previous years.

LAST YEAR'S RECORD.

Last year the Hindus had their first engagement with the 'Rest,' while the Europeans met the Parsis. The first match was characterised by prolific scoring. The Hindus piled up the record figure of 560 runs for the loss of seven wickets, thanks chiefly to the magnificent batting of Amarnath who, by the way, put up the record individual score of 241 runs, L. P. Jai, who contributed 103 runs in his inimitable style and Vijay Merchant, who retired hurt after knocking up a classic 71. The 'Rest' replied with 349 runs to which J. Harris contributed a fine century, Bhaskar 88 and Shaw 53. C. S. Nayudu bowled beautifully to capture 6 wickets at a low price.

A CREDITABLE VICTORY.

The Europeans had fared very badly against the Parsis in their first venture, being skittled out for a meagre 142. But the second innings saw them gaining the upper hand. Captain Philpot Brookes played a masterly innings to hit up 143 runs and John Tew and A. F. Wensley added 71 and 59 respectively on their own accounts. Although the Parsis had secured a comfortable lead of 93 runs due mainly to the effort of J. B. Khot (92) and E. R. Aibara (51), they fell short of the European total in the final tally. After an exciting tussle they lost by 19 runs.

THE MISSING STARS.

The European Selection Committee tried hard to get together a really strong side. But their invitations have been refused from all quarters. It is a matter of great pity that the two players who acquitted themselves exceedingly well last year, namely, Captain Philpot-Brookes with the bat and Lieut. Orton with the leather should find it impossible to participate in the tournament. Their absence is sure to be keenly felt by all. The team which the Europeans are now going to put up, is purely a local one, with the only exceptions of S. W. Behrend from Calcutta, and Wensley from Jamnagar.

TOO WEAK FOR HINDUS.

Needless to mention, it will be too weak for the formidable combination which the Hindus have got together. R. Ashley, who has been entrusted with the task of leading the side, will have a heart-rending job to dismiss the Hindu batsmen, if the latter succeed in putting forth their best. Similarly they have the fearful spectre of a miserable rout before them, should the Hindu bowlers get going according to their reputations. But Cricket is a game of chance. While there is every possibility of tall scoring

FINLAND WILL NOT YIELD

But Determined Still To Reach Acceptable Solution

HELSINKI, Nov. 14.

Commenting on the breakdown of the Moscow talks the Finnish press reaffirms the country's determination not to yield to the Soviet demand for a naval base in the Gulf of Finland.

It is added that although the Finnish delegates are returning empty handed, there is no need for pessimism as Finland is prepared to do her utmost to reach an acceptable solution.—Reuter.

ALLIES' VICTORY WILL RESTORE POLAND

LONDON, Nov. 14.

The new Polish Premier, M. Sikowoski and Foreign Minister, M. Waleski, arrived in London by air from Paris to-day.

The Polish Premier said: "I have full confidence in the victory of the Allies and their victory will bring Poland back to life.—Reuter.

NOISE OF GUNFIRE IN PARIS REGION HEARD IN SUBURBS

A Paris 'communique' reports a "quiet night" on the Western Front. River Rhine is well in flood in the lower reaches. This may act as a brake on German military plans, though the heavy concentrations in the affected part would enable German forces to take an offensive.

HITLER AND PEACE

German reply to the Belgo-Dutch peace appeal, it is stated, has been handed over to the Dutch and Belgian Ministers in Berlin. According to the report to a Stockholm paper, Herr Hitler has "politely" declined the proffered mediation.

MOSCOW TALKS FAIL

The talks between Finland and Soviet Russia at Moscow have apparently broken down, though it is stated that there is no cause for pessimism and that Finland would do her utmost to reach an acceptable solution of the issues involved. Meanwhile, a Helsinki cable states that Soviet aircraft which have been continually flying over Finnish Karelia opposite Leningrad have been subjected to machinegun fire.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRE IN PARIS REGION.

PARIS, Nov. 14.

Anti-aircraft fire was heard again last night, according to reports from various points in Paris region. The fire was supposed to be directed against reconnaissance aircraft. No communique has been issued by the authorities.—Reuter.

GERMAN BOMBER BROUGHT DOWN

PARIS, Nov. 14.

French fighters brought down a Heinkel bomber, writes M. Charles Morice, who says our aces attacked and after three minutes the Heinkel caught fire and lost a wing. She finally blew up in the air and the wings and engine were thrown in all directions. The crew were unable to use their parachutes.—Reuter.

RHINE IN FLOODS

PARIS, Nov. 14.

The Rhine is well in flood in the lower reaches. The Westphalian bank is submerged three feet, acting as a brake upon German military plans; but their concentration in this area for some time has been so strong that it will be possible for them to take an offensive any moment.

Paris opinion, however, believes that Herr Hitler will repeat the policy of keeping the small countries in a constant state of alarm and his next move is expected to be a press campaign against the low countries.

Meanwhile aerial observation reveals no great changes in German concentrations on the Belgian and Dutch frontiers.—Reuter.

GERMAN PLANES RAID SHETLANDS

LONDON, Nov. 14.

The four German 'planes, which twice raided the Shetlands yesterday dropped at least twelve bombs estimated at five hundred pounds each.

One seven-pound fragment hit a small house, four bombs fell harmlessly into the sea, four others close together fell on land within a quartermile of occupied schools and four more dropped three miles further away on a hilltop.—Reuter.

TWO FLYING BOATS DESTROYED

BERLIN, Nov. 14.

A High Command "communique" claims that two British flying boats were destroyed in yesterday's attack on the Shetlands and all the German 'planes returned in good condition.—Reuter.

LONDON DENIAL OF GERMAN CLAIM

LONDON, Nov. 14.

"Reuter" learns from official sources that no flying boats were destroyed in the raid on the Shetlands yesterday.—Reuter.

BRITISH LOSSES ON SEA

LONDON, Nov. 14.

A British destroyer has been lost through striking a mine, the Admiralty announces. One is dead and six are missing. Three officers and twelve ratings have been injured. Over seventy of the crew have been picked up and landed by tugs and drifers.

Following an explosion, a tug took the destroyer into tow but, shortly afterwards, the destroyer went down stern first. A number of survivors were practically without clothing and most of them were smothered in oil. This is the first destroyer of the Royal Navy lost since the outbreak of the war.

CARGO SHIP SINKS.

A cargo steamer also sank following an explosion about an hour after the destroyer went down. She was a mile from the position where the destroyer sank.

A fleetwood trawler "Creswell" (275 tons) was sunk by a submarine, according to a radio message from another trawler. Six of the crew of twelve are missing.—Reuter.

LIFEBOAT RESCUES 46 BRITISHERS

LONDON, Nov. 14.

After having been out for seventeen hours an East Coast lifeboat returned to its station with 46 men rescued from two British ships, which had both struck the submerged wreckage of a steamer sunk off the coast a fortnight ago. The lifeboat was returning with 18 rescued from the first steamer when a wireless was received stating that the second ship had also struck the wreckage. The lifeboat put back and saved the crew of 28.

On Saturday, the same lifeboat rescued the crew of a Leith steamer which also struck the same wreckage.—Reuter.

"MATRA" SINKS

LONDON, Nov. 14.

British steamer "Matra" (8000 tons) was lost in the North Sea as a result of an explosion. Two people were killed and 22 injured. The Captain, pilot and ten officers and forty lascars were taken off by a lifeboat, which made three trips to the vessel.—Reuter.

NORWEGIAN SHIP TORPEDOED

LONDON, Nov. 14.

A Norwegian ship was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. Twenty-three members of the crew left the ship in two boats, but one of the boats containing 17 members of the crew is missing.—Reuter.

Polite "No" To Belgo-Dutch Mediation

REPLY HANDED OVER TO MINISTERS AT BERLIN

LONDON, Nov. 14.

It is stated that the German reply to the Hague peace appeal was handed to the Dutch and Belgian Ministers in Berlin this afternoon. The text has not yet been officially disclosed, but the Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm "Aftonbladet" states that Herr Hitler politely declines the proferred mediation.—Reuter.

BELGO-DUTCH SITUATION

PARIS, Nov. 14.

There is an impression in political circles that the tension in the Belgo-Dutch situation 'vis-a-vis' Germany has slackened. A similar impression pervades the Italian press which gives four reasons:

Firstly, the nature of M. Degeer's broadcast;

Secondly, the fact that Herr von Ribbentrop received the Belgian Ambassador;

Thirdly, the German Envoy's visit to M. Spaak; and Fourthly the visit of the American Minister to Queen Wilhelmina.

The last named visit is reported to have been made on the Queen's invitation.—Reuter.

Firing In Dhami State Again

New York Cotton Steady On Sharp Recovery In Sterling

WALL-STREET COVERING AND PERSISTENT TRADE BUYING

Strong Statistical Position Ahead

BOMBAY, Nov. 14.

The New York Cotton market rallied on the sharp recovery in sterling 3-93 5/8 and optimistic predictions that exports and domestic consuption will exceed the supply resulting in tightness later in the season.

The New York Cotton Market opened steady and turned moderately active after early irregularity. Prices advanced on trade and Liverpool buying of nears. There was hedging and foreign and domestic liquidation of distants. Prices rallied on Wall-Street covering and persistent trade buying. Prices tapered off on hedging but the session closed steady.

WEEKLY REVIEW

After selling off and hedging on the belief that the revised Neutrality Law will tighten shipping situation rendering continued large cotton exports more uncertain, a broad buying movement including Liverpool, Bombay and Wall-Street as well as a scramble to cover by trade shorts, developed as the somewhat unexpected loan announcement was interpreted bullishly.

With Bureau figures slightly exceeding expectation, some liquidation and hedging appeared on the upswing but contracts were generally scarce.

Business in cotton goods was only of a routine nature, in the meanwhile some December liquidation will not be surprising due to the difficulty of obtaining freight space for shipments but sentiment is cheerful as in the event of current domestic consumption and export prospects materialising, United States Department of Agriculture officials expect the Government loan to play an important role in the anticipated price rise as with talk of three million bales going into the new loan, a shortage of so-called free cotton supplies will develop possibly in the next spring.

NEW YORK MARKET

On Monday December delivery opened unchanged at 9.47 and declined to 9.46 which was the lowest level. Later on there was active buying and December advanced to 9.58 which was the highest level. The market closed at a net rise of 10 pts but distant October was 2 pts down. Spot cotton prices advanced 10 pts at 9.82 c per lb.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET

The New Orleans Cotton futures market was fairly steady and closed at a rise of 10 to 7 pts. Spot Cotton prices gained 11 pts. at 9.67c per lb.

LIVERPOOL MARKET

The Liverpool Cotton Futures Market opened at a decline of 2 pts with January 6.50. There was long liquidation on steadier Sterling. Bombay realising and hedging was offset by new speculative buying. Trade calling in response to good Manchester reports and speculative buying on rumour that two cotton ships were sunk, prices advanced. Offerings were light and the market closed at a net rise of 10 to 11 pts. Middling American Spot Cotton prices declined 6 pts. at 6.95d. per lb.

EGYPTIAN COTTON

Egyptian Cotton Futures Market was steady. Uppers futures advanced 4 to 15 points and Giza futures gained 13 to 14 points.

FEVERISH ACTIVITY

Messrs. Devkaran Nanjee state:—

The Bombay market again became feverish this week and registered a new high level of prices unseen for a very long time. The highest price for Broach April/May was Rs. 229 1/2 (Nov. 10) and the lowest Rs. 202 1/2 (Nov. 3). The advance proved to be too rapid, but was accentuated by the continued rising tendency of the Calcutta Jute market and renewed depreciation of sterling in terms of the Dollar. Resumption of Tejimandi operations and the threat by America to prohibit exports to Japan also assisted the advance. Higher prices, however, attracted considerable straddle selling and profit-taking which caused a small setback at the close. The New York Market also remained firm, being stimulated by the renewal of the armaments announcement of loan for the 1939 crop and fear of a squeeze in the Spring. Trade and Wall Street buying absorbed hedge-selling. The Bureau Report published on November 8 was colourless. It estimated the production at 11,945,000 bales and yield per acre 234.1 lbs. against production 11,928,000 bales and yield per acre 235.7 lbs. in the October report. The ginnings were given as 10,055,000 bales against 8,875,000 bales in the previous report. The highest price for the December position was 9.49 (Nov. 10) and the lowest 9.03 (Nov. 3). The Liverpool market experienced a sharp rise due to the fall in the Dollar-Sterling Cross-rate and scarcity of freight.

PRIVATE CABLES

New York December highest 9.58 +11 (2-45 p.m.): lowest 9.46 —01 (10.4 a.m.)

Liverpool January highest 6.66 +14; lowest 6.46 —07.

Messrs. Chunilal Mehta and Co., Ltd. have received to-day the following cable information from their foreign friends:—

New York.—Expect over 500 thousand will go into new loan, believe domestic consumption and exports over 12 million and possibly 750 thousand must be withdrawn from loans. Therefore, by Spring spot situation very strong. Think later months around ten cents as maturity approaches. Also favour purchases October.

New York.—Outlook points restricted supplies free cotton next Spring. Expect prices March, May, July continue work irregular higher as season advances.

Liverpool.—Market steady. General trade buying. Contracts scarce

WAR MAY BE DECIDED IN MOSCOW

have little effect, and the balance of power in the air would be turned heavily against us.

Italy, weak on land, is also strong in the air and under the sea.

The conclusion stares us in the face. Our fate may be settled in Moscow. It is not enough to regret the follies of the past: we must undo them.

I do not suggest that we could now win Stalin's alliance; it is too late for that. But we might secure his friendly neutrality.

Any discussion of the morality of Russia's conduct is academic and even mischievous. She did what she did, and we must face the consequences.

I will therefore, summarise my own suggestions.

(1) We and the French should at once send to Moscow an acceptable envoy of high rank perhaps Mr. Eden, or M. Herriot, or both, to explore and negotiate.

(2) We should say that we have no objection to Russia's retaining the Polish borderlands.

(3) We might welcome any form of help for China.

(4) We might offer to buy up Russia's surplus of oil, wheat and manganese.

Our hope of victory may turn on our promptitude in making to Moscow an approach on such lines as these.

PACHORA EDUCATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY

(From A Correspondent.)

PACHORA, Nov. 11.

The Third Annual General Meeting of the Pachora Taluka Co-operative Education Society Ltd. Pachora was recently held under the Presidentship of Mr. N. S. Deshpande. Mamlatdar of Taluka Pachora when the report about the working of the Society for the year 1938-39 was adopted. This is the only Society having educational objects which is registered under the Co-operative Societies Act.

This year the Society has opened a Hostel for boys. About 15 boys are taking advantage of it. The Hostel-charges are very moderate being Rs. 10 per month.

Both the High School and the Hostel conducted by the Society meet in rented buildings. It is the ambition of the Society to have its own buildings and with this main object the Society has proposed a novel scheme on the lines of the Bombay Mayor's Rupee Fund which was organised to help the King-Emperor's Anti-Tuberculosis Fund. It has been decided to issue 35,000 one Rupee Receipts-Tickets and distribute 350 Prizes each of a cash value ranging from 5 to Rs. 5,000. The Lucky Numbers have been selected by the Hon'ble Mr. G. V. Mavlankar Speaker of the Bombay Legislative Assembly. If the whole amount is realised there will be a net balance of Rs. 25,000 to the Society after setting apart Rs. 6,870 on account of Prizes and Rs. 3,000 on account of expense of the organisation.

BOMBAY COTTON

Bombay: November 14.

Speculation has revived on a large scale in the local Cotton Market and after a brief period of steady markets during the period of the Ordinance, fluctuations are once again wide and rapid. It appears that outsiders and Bazar professionals are trying to push up prices and there is confident buying.

Those who suffered heavy losses during the early rise are now out to recover their losses and unprecedented enthusiasm exists and it is freely said that next month Broach Cotton will reach Rs. 250 level. The speculative activity has increased considerably and there is no regular trading. Even on declared holidays thousands of bales are changing hands and the Board of Directors do not care whether members act according to by-laws and this state naturally weakens the claim for military control.

In sympathy with a rise of 10 pts. in New York Cotton features the market was expected to open at Rs. 226 for Broach April/May delivery, but owing to weakness in Calcutta markets, the market opened quiet at Rs. 222/4 for Broach April/May delivery and improved to Rs. 224 on scattered buying. Later on there was increased selling pressure and the early rise was wiped off and prices declined to Rs. 220/12. The tone of the market was quiet.

It appears that the market is working for a natural reaction after sharp rise in the previous week prices. Long liquidation will strengthen the technical position of the market and under no circumstances we favour short sales. Intending buyers will do well to wait for lower levels as the market is under full control of bulls.

Liverpool market opened at a decline of 9 points and later was reported 6 points down. In the local market there was scattered covering and prices advanced to Rs. 223. The market finally closed at 5 p.m. as under:—

SCATTERED REALISING AND NATURAL REACTION

Bombay: November 14.

Forward Section of the local Share Bazar remained closed to-day owing to "Valan." In the Cash Section there was restricted turnover and prices failed to show any important change.

The general feeling was somewhat quiet, owing to easier Calcutta advices and reported difficulties of some parties. There was less disposition to operate after the recent sharp rise and owing to somewhat weak technical situation on overbought state of the market.

The market is entitled to a natural reaction and American advices are not encouraging. Peace talks in Europe and difficulties of securing freight are discouraging buyers.

Although not yet translated into action from the market point of view, there is considerable bearishness on Wall-Street based largely on the sluggish behaviour of the market on recent rallies. However, undertone improved slightly but dealings were slack with minor fractional losses predominating, the session closing irregular. Steels were irregular, another sizeable gain in output being offset by reports that the prospects for higher first quarter prices are fading. U. S. Steel shares declined 1/4 at 69-3/4. Anaconda Coppers lost 1/4 at 31 1/2 and General Motors improved 1/2 at 55 1/2 dollars.

Recently in the local market there had been a fair amount of profit-taking and the same is passed on to new buyers. The undertone remains moderately steady and while we look for higher prices eventually we believe intending buyers will do well by awaiting lower levels which ought to be reached after the straight rise. Any way, the market as now under the control of professional operators who are manipulating the market very cautiously without runaway prices. There is a fairly large outside business in the market with Calcutta operators buying confidently. But to-day there was some realising and Tata Steel Defds. were nominally quoted at Rs. 1855.

N. Y. COTTON MARKET

New York, Nov 14

The New York cotton showed slightly easier tendency following the weakness overseas but export difficulties continued to check aggressive selling with movements being restricted.

The trading in December began at 9.55 i.e. two points lower than the last closing. Prices declined on lower Liverpool cables and lack of local support but thereafter the steadiness developed although no important buying was noticeable.

IF IT COULD ONLY TALK

THIS STANCH LITTLE TIN has been party to more thrilling adventures than you or I dare dream of. Round-the-world flights, grim Polar expeditions, daring jungle safari form Klim's daily routine.

But it was not always thus. Klim began as choice milk from the most peaceful surroundings . . . green rolling meadows where sleek cows graze placidly.

So good was this selected milk that it qualified for Klim. Tested, processed and re-tested, it was finally sealed in an immaculate tin so that none of its delicious flavour could ever escape.

For Klim is that amazing dried milk which not only stays fresh, but tastes fresh. Since it keeps without refrigeration, Klim in your kitchen means fresh wholesome milk whenever you want it.

COMMUNIST LEADER'S INTERNMENT

LAHORE, Nov. 14.

It is understood that permission sought by Diwan Chamanlal, M.L.A. to interview Mr. Iqbal Singh, Communist leader, who is now interned in Lahore Fort, in his capacity as Mr. Iqbal's legal adviser, has not been granted.

Diwan Chamanlal, it is further understood, will table a short-notice question in the Punjab Assembly on November 20.

Sardar Sohansingh Josh has given notice of an adjournment motion to be moved in the Assembly, which meets next week, to discuss the refusal of the Premier to give any information to the House regarding Mr. Iqbal Singh's arrest on entry in the Punjab after the expiry of his term.—United Press.

CUSTOMS OFFICER REINSTATED

Decision Of Federal Public Services Commission

The "Bombay Chronicle" understands that, as a result of the finding of the Federal Public Services Commission in the case of Mr. J. C. Unwala, a principal appraiser in the Bombay Customs House, which the Government of India have accepted, he will be re-instated into the office from which earlier this year he was dismissed by the Central Board of Revenue. The Central Board, on inquiries made by the Collector of Customs, had held him guilty of collusion in a customs fraud case. Mr. Unwala's case, however, on a revision petition to the Government of India, was enquired into by the Federal Public Services Commission. This is one of the cases in which the Federal Public Services Commission have disagreed with the verdict of high officials. The finding of the Federal Public Services Commission in Mr. Unwala's case is that he is innocent on all the counts on which the Central Board of Revenue had found him guilty.

NEED OF THE HOUR

Communal harmony was naturally the theme of many addresses during the last few days when the Diwali and the Ramzan Id celebrations almost coincided with each other. Mr. Jinnah's Id broadcast was one such and was in every way worthy of the occasion. It breathed the very spirit of communal goodwill and unity that Islam has enjoined on its devotees. "On this day of Id," said Mr. Jinnah" "there will be no worthier manifestation of the spirit that is kindled in us through fast and prayer than to resolve to bring about complete harmony within our household, within our community and within our country, with all its variety of religion and creeds, and to work, whether in private life or public, for no selfish ends but for the greater good of all our countrymen and finally of all human beings." He touched upon politics only to the extent of illustrating this principle of universal goodwill in its application to that sphere. Addressing himself particularly to young men, "who will henceforth have to bear the burden of our aspirations," he said: "Young friends, if I touch upon politics to-night, it is only to tell you, as a word of advice that we have our rights and our claims in a future India. But we shall not be obstinate about them, for obstinacy will be the negation of that spirit of love and toleration, which should fall upon us on this Id day and whose blessings the prophet commands us to communicate to others." Young and old alike will profit alike by the scrupulous observance of the principles here enunciated. And in doing so they will be serving their country as well as themselves and their communities.

Message Of Id

It is remarkable that similar sentiments were expressed at a meeting held on the same day and about the same time under the auspices of five different Muslim associations which invited Congress leaders to a social gathering, thus translating into action the message of the Id, the message, namely, of love and brotherhood. Mr. Bhulabhai Desai speaking the meeting emphasized that there could be no political progress in the country so long as the spirit of brotherhood was not developed. Mr. B. G. Kher, who pointed out how whatever problems the Congress Ministry in Bombay tackled in its own way, it tackled them for the benefit of the whole province without the slightest consideration of advancing the interests of one community at the disadvantage of another, also appealed for communal unity.

Urgent Problem

It is not in Bombay alone that the keen desire for communal amity is finding expression. In Madras, too, on the Id day Mr. C. Rajagopalachari fervently appealed to the majority community to make supreme effort to secure the esteem and love of Muslims. From the Punjab also comes the gratifying report that the Premier is ready to start for Bombay or Wardha at any time he may be wanted to help in solving the unity problem. He is said to be deeply impressed by the anxious impatience among the younger sections of both the parties to see the problem solved for good and all. He is also reported to have made some specific suggestions for its solution, one of them being the tackling of the different Provincial Hindu Muslim questions separately by the Provinces concerned, without holding them up all till an all-India solution is found. It is a suggestion worth serious consideration and will, we trust, be considered in the course of the forthcoming Jinnah-Nehru talks. Finally, the Nationalist Muslims of Delhi have decided to convene an All-India Conference of Nationalist Muslims in that city early in December to consider the present situation. We trust its deliberations will be such as to expedite the solution of the communal problem. Communal unity is beyond doubt the supreme need of the hour. And the efforts of all parties and communities should be concentrated for some time on that problem.

Pentangular—A Necessary Evil?

The Hindus meet the Europeans to-day at the Brabourne Stadium, to inaugurate another series of the Bombay Pentangular Cricket Tournament. The Pentangular has, to put it correctly, become literally a necessary evil. Run on avowedly communal lines it is admittedly an evil and the frenzied support it receives annually from thousands of votaries has obviously made it necessary!

If there is one thing that should be above individuals and communities it is sport. It is, indeed, a sad commentary on the state of affairs in our own sporting world that tournaments and athletic meetings conducted on purely communal lines should find significant favour with players and spectators alike. Cricket in particular, more than any other sport, has suffered a great deal in our country on this account. The majority of the important cricketing centres in India sponsor and annually organise Triangular, Quadrangular and Pentangular tourhaments, according to the number of communities represented, and there is at present the danger of those that have hitherto courageously kept aloof, following suit. It is sad but true that as efforts towards promoting communal harmony in our country are daily gathering weight and sincerity, counter-forces are steadily being set up on cricket grounds and football fields! But what is particularly discouraging is the fact that, barring feeble isolated attempts on the part of some cricket organizations such as the United Provinces Cricket Association, no sincere and concerted effort to work for the removal of this stigma on the good name of Indian sport has yet been made. Until it is realised that the 'game' is bigger than the individual and outside the domain of his creed, the root cause of the evil cannot be eradicated. Indian sportsmen more than anyone else must be faithful to the genuine traditions of sport, and lose no time in standing up 'en masse' against such degenerative forces. The players themselves should take the initiative by refusing to take part in tournaments that are conducted on communal lines. If they do so, the public in general and the sporting public in particular are bound to recognise and very soon appreciate such action. In this connection we would earnestly appeal to cricketers and cricket 'fans' all over the country to extend much greater co-operation and support to the Ranji Trophy Cricket Championship of India matches than has been extended to them hitherto. By doing so they will encourage a great tournament which is run on rigorously non-communal lines, besides doing their duty by the greatest and most beloved sportsman that the country has produced—our own 'Ranji' of immortal fame.

War May Be Decided In Moscow

By H. N. BRAILSFORD

The first phase of this war is over; the Poles have been crushed. It is not enough that we should record our pity and our horror. Honesty demands that we should feel and express a sense of shame.

Some share in the responsibility for this calamity falls on the Government of this island. With impulsive levity Mr. Chamberlain gave to Poland a guarantee against aggression that he had no means of fulfilling.

This he did without first making sure that the one Power which could have helped her was willing to assume the risk.

When, belatedly, he did seek Russia's aid, he went about it in a way that reinforced the Kremlin's doubts of his sincerity

He then delayed, week after week, the financial help that might have enabled the Poles to arm themselves against the inevitable invasion. He refused the loan that would have allowed them to buy American planes.

The truth is that Poland was annihilated long before the Germans marched. Mr. Chamberlain pronounced her doom at Munich. Poland never could have stood alone. Her only chance of survival lay in Czech and Russian support. At Munich, Mr. Chamberlain destroyed the Czechs and antagonised the Russians. That was the end of Poland.

That said, let us try to see our situation with cold realism. The general lines on which the Allied Governments propose to conduct this war are by now fairly clear. There are to be "no adventures"; in other words, our strategy will be one of passive defence.

There is to be a trial of endurance, which will continue for a good three years.

This plan has, at first sight, the merit of humanity, in the sense that it promises to avoid the reckless slaughter of young lives, British and French, that made of Flanders the grave of a generation.

It assumes what may prove to be true, that in the air, on land, and under the sea, defence is now stronger than the attack. But by a purely defensive strategy we could never destroy Nazism. The reckoning must be that Germany is as vulnerable as she was in 1918 to an allied blockade.

That seemed highly probable, until Hitler concluded his ten-year entente with Stalin. But can we trust it now?

This war, it seems to me, will be decided in two remote capitals: Moscow and Washington; and in its early stages. Moscow is the more important.

★

It is vital, then, to form some guess about Stalin's aims. When he dismissed Litvinoff five months ago, he turned his back on the entire policy of liberalism and collective security that had governed Communist thinking for five years. Henceforward if I read him correctly he determined to follow a purely nationalist line.

He would keep Russia out of war, but, at the same time, he meant to aggrandise her, to increase her influence and expand her borders.

For the present, at least, he has little interest in the Far East, where he has concluded a truce with Japan. His ambitions lie for the moment in Europe. As an armed neutral, he may wield immense power by acting boldly on the fringes of the war zone.

His first move—the occupation of the Polish borderland—was natural and inevitable. Its population is mainly Russian, and the Poles snatched it in 1920 by a wanton attack while the Soviets were involved in their Civil War.

The Jews of its towns and the poorer peasants of its villages will gain by passing under Russian rule. But this first move will certainly not be Stalin's last. He has the chance of making big changes along the whole of the eastern frontier, and he may be bold enough to seize it while the other Great Powers are occupied.

Anyone can guess what he may wish to do, though no one can be sure what he will do. He might like to secure an ice-free port in the Baltic, perhaps at Windau, at Latvia's expense. He might wish, in one degree or another, to bring the Baltic States under his control.

Then he has an old claim, good in law, on Rumania's stolen province of Bessarabia, a rich province with fertile black earth. Finally, he might make himself the arbiter of the Balkans, by compelling Rumania to give back to the Bulgarians that other stolen province, the Dobrudja.

All this would be to return to the traditional part that Russia had always played in these regions before the revolution. It might be done in consultation with Germany, and with some regard for her interests, or it might be done with rough and reckless egoism.

Even this is not all. Is Stalin, for a time at least, positively friendly to Berlin for his own nationalist reasons, in the sense that he wishes at the moment to further Hitler's designs? Or is he perfectly indifferent, and prepared to trade on the necessities of every Power involved in this war?

No one knows, but the answer to this question may decide our fate. Russia has at present only a small exportable surplus of oil and wheat. But she might by stinting her own consumption and reorganising her economy, increase it considerably. Worse still, she might supply planes for a consideration, and this equivalent might be a free hand in Eastern Europe.

I am far from saying that she will: it is enough for this argument that she could do so. In that event, our blockade would

Oxford Pamphlets—No. 13

"The Refugee Question"

By D. F. KARAKA

One more Oxford Pamphlet which has come to hand is exceedingly instructive and can be read with great interest. It is "The Refugee Question" by John Hope Simpson.

The most important observation one can make after reading through it is that since the war there has been an increasing activity on the part of various Governments to shift and to settle people. On the other hand the tragedy seems to be that one has to borrow from Peter to pay Paul.

The refugee question has become very important since the war. War, nationalism and racial persecution have been the cause of the exodus of large numbers of people from the countries in which they lived and worked and the problem of the refugee has reached proportions which can no longer be tackled by individual effort. The pamphlet discusses the magnitude of the problem, the methods used so far and future possibilities.

Its author is Sir John Hope Simpson. He is adequately qualified to write on it, as he was the Vice-President of the Refugee Settlement Commission in Athens for 1926-30, from where he went on a special mission to Palestine and later was Director-General of the Flood Relief Committee in China. He is an authoritative exponent of the Refugee Question and publishes his works under the auspices of the Royal Institute of International Affairs.

* * * *

"A refugee," says Sir John, "must be described as an involuntary migrant. He would rather remain where he is, but conditions religious, economic, political or social, have rendered his life there so uncomfortable or, indeed, so unbearable, that he is forced to migrate from his home and to search for more tolerable conditions elsewhere. His alternatives to escape may frequently be the concentration camp or suicide. His search is often rendered more difficult in that the ordinary rights of a national are withdrawn from him, he is denaturalized, unprovided with the normal documents of travel, and left to fend for himself unaided by any of the services of the State to which he belonged. He is an unwanted inhabitant of the world, unwanted in the country of his origin, unwanted in any other country."

* * * *

Such is the tragic condition of the refugee. Sir John uses hard words, but he realises the necessity of using them, if he is to present the world the right picture of the refugee. He goes on to deal with the causes of the problem and the various movements from which refugees sprang. Later he goes on to explain the work of the League and particularly of Dr. Nansen, after whom the international refugees passport is named. His main chapter, however, is on the Jewish refugee. He sums it up by saying: "The story of the persecution of the Jew and of the so-called 'non-Aryan' in Germany, Austria, and Czechoslovakia since its annexation is one of the saddest pages of history." The deliberate and expressed object of Nazi policy in regard to Jews and 'non-Aryans' is to render life in Germany impossible for them and to compel them to emigrate. Next we have the Jewish plan of emigration. The flight of the Jews from Germany began in 1933 and it still continues. Sir Hubert Emerson, the League High Commissioner for Refugees, said in a recent broadcast that between 1933 and the end of 1936, refugees who had left Germany and Austria numbered 350,000. He continued to say: "Even so, in February of this year, there were still 660,000 persons who came within the Nuremberg laws and of these 400,000 will have to be evacuated. They are not all Jews by religion. On the contrary, about one-third of them are Christians. If there is serious persecution of Jews in Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia, the total number to be dealt with will be more than three-quarters of a million." And Sir Herbert Emerson can speak authentically on the size of the 'racial' problem.

Even the Nazis have a plan for the Jews. It was announced in Berlin on July 6th. But the plan is only one of facilitating the emigration, for the aim of National Socialism in Germany remains that of removing every single Jew from the Reich.

Other refugees are victims of political circumstances and

Frankly Speaking

Himmler At Work

The Munich Beer Cellar explosion was providential in more than one respect. Herr Hitler is still very much alive along with all his important lieutenants. Furthermore, he has provided himself with the opportunity of exploiting the "outrage" as only he and his followers know how to do. A minor Nazi diplomat once lost his life in Paris at the hands of a mentally broken down Polish Jew. The Nazis promptly, indeed thankfully, cashed in on it. They helped themselves to a much needed milliard marks worth of Jewish property. What they very much need to-day is the suppression of rapidly growing opposition. This requires an extra-ruthless degree of frightfulness for which the explosion offers the excuse. Herr Himmler may be trusted to do full justice to the occasion. But what he and his masters will not do is significant. A wave of arrests is sweeping over Germany involving Jews, Monarchists, Catholics and so on but not communists. Hitler and Himmler are wise. They cannot help being so.

Churchill's Challenge

Mr. Churchill, who, according to the Nazis, had enjoyed his last peaceful week-end more than a week ago, spent the next preparing a fighting radio offensive of his own. That offensive was duly delivered on Monday last. It was a challenge to the Nazis to make good their horrid threats. So far that challenge has not been taken up. This fact lends support to Mr. Churchill's opinion that "the evil man over there and his cluster of confederates are not sure of themselves." Has Herr Hitler realised the awful truth that he "cannot find one single friendly eye in the whole circumference of the globe?" Does he feel that he has as good as lost the war? Most probably not. But, on the other hand, it is to be noted that, in spite of sensational preparations, he has not attacked on the Western Front, he has not invaded Britain and he has not yet sought to rape Holland and Belgium. Indeed, his Government has given the assurance to these countries that their neutrality shall be respected Herr Hitler may not have lost all hopes of victory but it does seem that his confidence and courage have already been shaken.

Hitler's Triple Tragedy

His opponents, on the contrary, are certainly gaining in strength every day. They are to-day strong enough to resist him. As time passes they will inevitably be in a position to overwhelm and crush him. Within a few weeks Britain and France will begin to be flooded with an endless stream of war material from the United States of America. And it will not be long before they double their present might. They are also quietly developing and consolidating political alliances. And, finally, there are the trade agreements and further discussions with Spain, Italy—and Russia! Unless Herr Hitler is blind, he must see how tragedy, military, political and economic—and internal—is inexorably bearing down upon him. He must, therefore, either strike now or make peace.

Indian Seamen's Demands

There will be full and general sympathy in India with the fight which the All-India Seamen's Federation is putting up for what, in the conditions of war, amount to no more than their bare rights. In wartime the risk to life and limb is naturally great. And when a war involves also contending with the menace of Nazi ruthlessness the risks become terrible indeed. In the circumstances refusal of concessions that have been demanded by the seamen and to which their Secretary refers, amounts to cynical exploitation. Every Indian will support the stand which the Federation is determined to make. By the way, it is an illuminating commentary on India's "status" that her sons are being clapped in jails for their right while our "representative" is enjoying thrilling honours blissfully unconcerned with what should have been his urgent duty.

A Compromise

The Natal Indian Association has adopted a resolution that, though opposed to segregation or separation of races, "it is prepared, with a view to establishing more cordial relations between the European and Indian communities, to do everything in its power to prevent the purchase of any property by Indians in any predominantly European residential area". On the other hand, it is expected that the Union Government will not enforce any laws specifically segregating Indians. The Indian Association has virtually promised to attempt to do voluntarily what Indians would have been compelled to do to a larger extent by the Government's recent segregation laws. But the non-enforcement of the laws is perhaps expected to lead to an amicable honourable settlement at an early date. On that assumption and in that hope alone can we welcome the Indian Association's voluntary restriction of Indians' rights.

BRITISH SERVICE MEN'S FAMILY ALLOWANCES

WAR MINISTER ANNOUNCES INCREASE: NEW NUFFIELD GIFT

LONDON, Nov. 14.

Increased allowances for the families of men serving in the Army, Navy and Air Force were announced by Mr. Hore-Belisha in the House of Commons. The present maximum of two sterling has now been modified and allowances for all children after the first will henceforth be four shillings weekly for the second child and three shillings each for all the others, compared with three shillings for the second, two shillings for the third and a shilling each for the remainder as at present. The existing marriage allowance of seventeen shillings plus five shillings for the first child remains unchanged.

HOW IT WOULD AFFECT FAMILY.

The War Minister explained that in the case of a household of eight children there will be paid in respect of a soldier on the lowest rate of pay the following:—Wife seventeen shillings, plus seven shillings in respect of herself, five shillings for the first child, four shillings for the second child, and three shillings each for the remaining six, totalling 51 shillings and in the event of special circumstances, like high rent, a claim may be met to the extent of a further two sterling weekly.

On the present army alone the existing annual expenditure of ten millions sterling annually on children's allowances will be increased by two millions sterling which is expected later to be doubled.

NEW NUFFIELD GIFT

Mr. Hore-Belisha further announced that Lord Nuffield had, in addition to other great benefactions in the same direction, offered a further 50,000 sterling for amenities of the men of the three fighting services with a proviso that 15,000 sterling should be devoted to providing wireless sets for the forces in France and the remainder distributed proportionately between the three services. Mr. Belisha expressed deep gratitude of his service colleagues and the Army Council.

IN 24 HOURS OF APPEAL.

Lord Nuffield's benefaction comes twenty-four hours after the Air Force Comforts Organisation had issued an appeal for 5,000 sterling to enable them to accept a maker's offer for a thousand sets for that figure. Presumably, therefore, Lord Nuffield's gift will provide 3,000 sets for the Western Front.—Reuter.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE BILL

Some cheers, but vocal Labour and Liberal opposition followed an announcement by Sir John Simon that the Criminal Justice Bill of June 16, (containing a clause abolishing flogging) which was the result of much preparatory work and controversy before the war, was being dropped in consequence of a large amount of official time and labour involved by taking the Bill further.

Replying to Mr. Attlee's request that the Bill should not be left till after the war, Sir John Simon said that if circumstances should change and pressure was relieved he would reconsider the matter.—Reuter.

JUTE MILLS STRIKE SPREADS

Twenty Thousand Workers Involved

CALCUTTA, Nov. 14.

The entire Labour force of Hastings Jute Mills, Rishra, (Hooghly) numbering about 4,000 downed tools this morning demanding an increase in wages.

Spinners and weavers of the Fort William Jute Mill in Shibpur, numbering about 3,000, also struck work to-day, demanding an increase in wages and the Mill has been closed.

This brings the total number of workers going on strike since this morning in the four Jute Mills, namely, Baranagore South Jute Mill, Baranagore East Mill, Hastings Jute Mill and Fort William Jute Mill, to 20,000.

Another 10,000 workers of the Hukumchand Group of mills in Naihati are already on strike, over the question of wages, for the last four days.—A. P.

NAZI WARNING TO BRITAIN

BERLIN, Nov. 14.

A warning that Britain cannot arm passenger ships and then expect them to be treated as peaceful vessels is given in "Boersen Zeitung."

No one can claim such a privilege because it contradicts all principles of reciprocity in International Law. It is absurd for Mr. Churchill to claim that merchantmen are only defensively armed. Every British military measure must expect a corresponding military answer.—Reuter.

Belgian Neutrality Not Infringed

LONDON, November 14.

It is learned in well-informed Belgian circles that no German aeroplanes have flown over Belgium or otherwise infringed Belgian neutrality since the protest on this subject was made to the German Government on November 3.—Reuter.

Dozen Injured In Delhi Clash

NEW DELHI, Nov. 14.

About a dozen persons were injured, one of them seriously in a free fight between two parties in Ghandni Chowk, business quarter of Old Delhi City, late to-night.

A police party soon arrived on the scene, dispersed the crowd and placed picket at different parts of the locality to prevent further clash.—A. P.

UTKAL BACKS WARDHA STAND

CUTTACK, Nov. 14.

The meeting of the Utkal Provincial Congress Committee passed two resolutions. One of the resolutions fully supported the stand taken by the Congress High Command after the "unsatisfactory" statements of Lord Zetland and the Viceroy and decided to carry out the orders of Mahatma Gandhi and the Congress Working Committee.

The other took notice of the arrest of Mr. Prananath Patnaik and four others and appealed to Congressmen to bear the consequences non-violently, keeping themselves in readiness for all emergencies.—United Press.

Utkal P. C. C.'s War Sub-Committee

CUTTACK, November 14.

The Utkal Provincial Congress Committee at a general meeting appointed a War Emergency Sub-Committee consisting of Mr. Harekrishna Mehtab, a member of the Congress Working Committee, and Mr. Nabakrishna Chaudhury to carry out all work in connection with the war situation according to the direction of the Working Committee and guide and advise the District Congress Committees in the matter.—United Press.

Guns Or Butter?

CHOICE FOR INDIA

Ex-Civilian Talks Of Gain If She Stood With Empire In War

LONDON, Nov. 14.

Modern India is faced with the same problems and temptation as Germany, declared Sir Frank Noyce speaking on India's economic contributions to the war before the East India Association under the chairmanship of Sir Firoz Khan Noon. Sir Frank Noyce continued:

"India must choose between guns and butter. If she remains within the British Empire she will, in her economic planning, be able to preserve a just balance between the needs of peace and the needs of war and to make adequate provision for her security with the minimum dislocation of her economic life. If lured by empty considerations of prestige, she elects to stand alone, she will, like Germany and Russia, dissipate the increasing margin on her wealth brought about by technical progress, in directions of singularly little value to a great majority of her citizens.

"In a modern war no nation is economically strong enough to develop full proficiency of all arms on land, sea and in the air. The principle of modern strategy is the division of defence. By standing in with a bloc of Powers, a nation, specialising in chosen lines of defence and leaning upon the support of others, can render itself secure as a result of much smaller effort than would be necessary if it had been necessary to defend itself unaided. The day of the entirely independent nation is over and States cannot stand alone."—Reuter.

ENEMY ATTEMPTS REPULSED

British Force In North China Reduced

LONDON, Nov. 13.

In summing up Sir John says: "The problem now requires the active consideration of Governments. Unless Governments are prepared to regard it as a major political disturbance, whose reactions affect the well-being of each civilised State and of the comity of civilised nations, no radical solution can be expected, and the private energy displayed will largely be wasted.

It is altogether a short but brilliant brochure on the subject and should be read by those who are interested in the problem. Perhaps it is significant that it should be No. 13 in the series.

Bharucha's Magnificent Display

Bombay Combined Snatch Narrow Victory Over Calcutta Club: Game Marred By Unsportsmanlike Tactics

BOMBAY COMBINED - - 4
(Bharucha 3, Ghosh)
CENTRAL SWIMMING CLUB (CALCUTTA) - - - - 3
(Kshettri, Chaterji, Banerji)

A large crowd of aquatic enthusiasts were present at the Golwalla Brothers Victoria Swimming Bath on Tuesday evening to see Bombay Combined snatch a brilliant, well-deserved victory over the visiting Central Swimming Club (Calcutta) team, by the odd goal in seven. An otherwise exciting and keenly-contested game was marred by an unfortunate incident culminating in the visitors displaying lack of sporting spirit and getting out of the 'Bath.' Though, with one exception they all came back after a few minutes, such inelegant tactics on the part of the fine Bengali side didn't at all do their great reputation justice. Possibly, the 'incident' referred to may have been due to a misunderstanding, but still it could have been got over without the Calcutta team taking such an unsportsmanlike step.

BHARUCHA'S FINE GAME

Bharucha was in magnificent form for the home team and apart from the three goals he actually scored, the brilliant Parsi player was always a source of danger to the visitors' defence.

Kshettri gave the Bengali side the lead, and Chaterji put them further ahead (2-0). This was all the scoring in the earlier half. In the latter period Ghosh reduced the lead for the home team and Bharucha scoring twice within a minute put them ahead (3-2). It was after Bharucha's second goal had been scored that the 'incident' mentioned above took place and the visitors left the 'Bath,' only to return with one exception a few minutes later. Bharucha increased the home side's lead, but Banerji reduced the margin for the visitors, the game ending in a close victory for Bombay Combined by the odd goal in seven. After the conclusion of the match Bill Gardiner, the well-known American diver along with three other divers gave an excellent diving display which was very much appreciated by the spectators.

The following were the teams:—

BOMBAY COMBINED.—Marsman N. Ghosh and R. H. M. Colah; K. Kapadia, P. Bharucha, Hillal and F. Punjiaji.

CENTRAL SWIMMING CLUB (CALCUTTA).—G. Sel, Goswami and Sadhu Khan, Madansingh; Banerji, Chaterji and Kshettri.

STAINED FALSE TEETH

..mean germs in your mouth!

Stained, insanitary dentures are a breeding ground for germs—it is estimated that over 80% of germs enter the human system through the mouth. Don't give infectious germs a foothold in your mouth—keep your plates both stain-free and germ-free with 'Steradent.'

'Steradent' is the new, scientific cleanser for false teeth. The Dental Profession has given it the highest endorsement—over 10,000 Dentists recommend it. 'Steradent' is harmless, quick and economical. Just shake a little 'Steradent' powder in a glass of warm water. Stir well. Leave your false teeth, plates and bridges in it while you dress or for overnight. Every stain vanishes, including blackest tobacco stains of long standing. The wholesome, flesh-pink colour of your plates is restored. Dull, dingy, discoloured teeth regain their clean, lustrous, life-like appearance. Your plates feel smooth, cool and comfortable—just like new, and there is no unpleasant 'disinfectant' taste.

Brushing is quite unnecessary. 'Steradent' is much more efficient and reaches crevices never touched by any brush. Moreover it sterilizes your dentures with a pleasant, harmless, but powerful purifying agent.

Agents: ATLANTIS (EAST) LTD., 20/1, CHETLA ROAD, CALCUTTA.

WARNING: Refuse imitations and inferior substitutes. They may damage your plates beyond repair. Insist upon 'Steradent' and take no chances.

DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT

Chapters 2 And 4 Made Applicable To British India

NEW DELHI, Nov. 14.

A "Gazette" of India Extraordinary announces the enforcement throughout British India from to-day of Chapters two and four of the Defence of India Act which received the Governor-General's assent on September 29.

Chapter two gives power to the Central Government to make rules to ensure the safety and welfare of His Majesty's Forces, etc., and to prevent subversive acts or attempts.

Chapter four makes certain supplemental provisions which 'inter alia' lay down that ordinary avocations of life and enjoyment of property shall be interfered with as little as may be consonant with the purpose of the Act.

By an important amendment carried in the Assembly, it was provided in chapter one relating to the short title, commencement and duration, that this chapter shall come into force at once and the provisions in the remaining three chapters of the Act shall come into force in such areas and on such date or dates as the Central Government may by notification in the Official "Gazette" appoint.—A. STANDING ORDERS FOR WORKERS

Millowners' Plea Before Industrial Court

The first Industrial Court constituted under Section 24 of the Bombay Industrial Disputes Act, commenced its sitting at the High Court on Tuesday.

The Hon. Mr. H. V. Divatia is the President of the Court and Mr. G. S. Rajadyaksha and Mr. B. K. Dalvi are members.

The Court heard appeals on Standing Orders for operatives and technical assistants settled by the Commissioner of Labour. There are 11 appeals relating to the Standing Orders regarding operatives and four regarding the Standing Orders for technical assistants. These appeals will be heard during the week and on Monday November 20, applications regarding illegal changes will be taken up.

The Court decided to take up the Standing Orders seriatim and hear appeals, and counter appeals if any, with respect to each.

The first appeal to be heard on Tuesday was by the employees of the Khatau Makanji Mills. They wanted the deletion of a provision requiring two months' probation before an operative was confirmed.

Mr. G. D. Ambekar, Secretary of the Kamgar Seva Sangh, on behalf of the appellants said that this provision was unnecessary as the operatives would usually have undergone sufficient training during the period they worked as "badlis."

Sir Jamshed Kanga who appeared on behalf of the Millowners' Association opposed the appeal. He urged that standards of efficiency varied from Mill to Mill and that the Manager of each Mill should be convinced of the efficiency of any employee before confirming him. For this purpose, a two months' period of probation was necessary.

The Standing Orders provide for a notice of one month to be given before discontinuing any shift.

The Millowners' Association wanted the notice period to be reduced to 14 days for the termination of the services of any permanent operative, while discontinuing any shift.

Mr. G. P. La Buchordiere, Labour Officer to the Government of Bombay, said that one month's notice was necessary to safeguard the interests of the workers.

After discussion it was agreed that the Standing Order should be amended so that the notice of one month should be given only when permanent workers are affected by the discontinuance of a shift.

Order No. 9 of the Standing Orders after laying down that shift working shall be regulated in accordance with the Factories Act, provides among other things, that if more than one shift is worked, the operatives shall be liable to be transferred from one shift to another and that notice of one month should be given for discontinuance of the shift.

WOMEN WORKERS.

Sir Jamshed Kanga stated that the employment of women workers during the day, offered a practical difficulty in adopting a system of wholesale changeover.

He also urged the shortening of notice of discontinuance from one month to 14 days.

Mr. A. S. R. Chari appearing for a group of workers, who have appealed against several of the Standing Orders said that the provision regarding the discontinuance of the night shift should not have been put in the Standing Orders at all. Such a provision gave to the employers an opportunity to evade the provisions relating to conciliation, which they would have to go through under the Act whenever they had to bring about any changes in the conditions of work. The Standing Orders should not take away a right conferred by the Act.

QUESTION OF LEAVE.

The next point of dispute was regarding leave. The Standing Orders provide that a millworker will ordinarily be qualified for one month's leave after continuous service for a period of twelve months. The order also provides that all applications for leave must be recorded and applications for extension of leave must be replied to.

Sir Jamshed Kanga urged that the rule as framed might lead the workers to believe that they had a prescriptive right for leave. He wanted the provision to be amended so that it merely enabled the employers to grant leave for not more than two months at a time.

The Labour Officer wanted the qualification clause to be retained so that a worker would be entitled to leave after 12 months of service.

DECLARATION OF RIGHT.

Mr. A. S. R. Chari wanted the order to be made a "declaration of right". The worker should always be eligible to get two months' leave after a year of service and the employer should not have the discretion to refuse leave.

The proceedings will be resumed on Wednesday.

WORLD AGAINST HITLERISM

Churchill's Survey Of 10 Weeks Of Warfare

LONDON, Nov. 12.

The fact that Nazi Germany could not find one single friendly eye in the whole circumference of the globe was emphasised by Mr. Churchill in the course of his broadcast.

Mr. Churchill said: I thought that it would be a good thing for me to tell you to-night how well the war turned for the Allies during the first ten weeks. It is quite plain that the power of the British Empire and the French Republic to restore and revive the life of the Polish, the Czech and the Slovak peoples, as well as to do a few other things, which I will mention later has been growing every day.

You know I have not always agreed with Mr. Chamberlain, though we have always been personal friends. But he is a man of very tough fibre and I can tell you he is going to fight as obstinately for victory as he did for peace. Can I say more?

You may take it absolutely for certain that either all that Britain and France stand for in the modern world will go down or Hitler and the Nazi regime and the recurring German or Prussian menace to Europe will be broken and destroyed.

That is the way the matter lies, and everybody had better make up his mind to that solid, sombre fact.

We have been agreeably surprised that ten weeks have been allotted to us so far to get into fighting trim. We are in a very different position from what we were ten weeks ago. We are far better prepared to endure the worst malice of Hitler and his Huns than we were at the beginning of September. Our Navy is stronger; our anti-U-boat forces are three times as numerous; our Air Force is much stronger; our Army is growing in numbers, improving in training every day: and our air raid precautions are very different from what they were at the outbreak of the war.

The whole world is against Hitler and Hitlerism. Men of every race and clime feel that this monstrous apparition stands between them and the forward move, which is their due and for which the age is ripe. Even in Germany itself there are millions who stand aloof from the seething mass of criminality and corruption constituted by the Nazi Party machine. Let them take courage amid the perplexities and perils, for it may well be that the final extinction of the baleful domination will pave the way to a broader solidarity of all men in all lands than we could ever have planned if we had not marched together through the fire.

The Half-Column By "Dim"

A number of people are resenting the fact that society ladies have been appointed to act as lady censors, when the work could be done by men who really need that money. Also the fact that they can read the correspondence of their friends makes many a situation very awkward.

To-day all roads lead to the Cricket Club. But the trouble is that they are still building the main road.

Most people have returned from their Diwali holidays, full of rest and repose. Some are returning to Bomay for rest and repose.

Mr. A. F. S. Talyarkhan will be on the air to-day. It is one of the occasions when the Indian Radio fulfils its purpose.

One of the important events of the coming season is the wedding of Bhicky, son of Sir Shapurjee and Lady Billimoria, and Silloo, daughter of Sir Ardeshir and Lady Dalal. It must be regarded as a union of Audit and Steel.

Let us hope that Mr. Jinnah's Broadcast on Ramzan Id Day will lead to a happier and healthier union between the two major communities in India.

The R. W. I. T. C. is continuing to maintain its strictness. The recent suspension of two jockeys is in keeping with their new drive towards clean and fair racing.

Viceroy Recalls King George V.'s Words While Unveiling Statue At Delhi

NEW DELHI, Nov. 14.

In presence of distinguished assemblage among whom were the Maharajas of Baroda and Kapurthala. H. E. the Viceroy unveiled the statue of His late Majesty King George V. Their Excellencies were received by Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, Member-in-Charge of Public Works Department. Sir Ramaswamy Mudaliar requesting the Viceroy to unveil the statue paid tribute to King George V.'s reign and said: "I may, however, be permitted to state with special reference to the Indian Empire that His Majesty's knowledge of and interest in India and her people were profound. No ruler availed himself of greater opportunities to follow closely the fortunes of this country and to endear her people to himself by the magic wand of sympathy."

VICEROY'S TRIBUTE.

H. E. the Viceroy in the course of his speech at the unveiling of the statue said: "During his reign that Empire passed through its constitutional adolescence, and India advanced by two great stages towards her destined goal of full and equal partnership with the Dominions of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"The memorial which I am about to unveil represents the tribute paid to a beloved Sovereign by his people in India.

STRENGTH IN UNITY.

"Once in his lifetime and in ours the foundations of the civilised world were shaken. Now that the test has come again, it is heartening to recall the exhortation which the King-Emperor who led us to victory through the dark days of the last Great War addressed to his people a few days before he died:—

"United by the bonds of willing service," he said, "let us prove ourselves both strong to endure, and resolute to overcome. And, with God's help, so we will."

His Excellency then pressed a button and His late Majesty's statue stood in full view.

The Maharajah of Kapurthala thanked the Viceroy for performing the function.—A. P.

NO PROGRESS WITHOUT COMMUNAL PEACE

Bhulabhai's Speech At "Id" Party

That there could be no political progress for India so long as the people of this vast continent did not forget petty differences and strive to develop a feeling of brotherhood, was emphasised by Mr. Bhulabhai Desai, addressing an "Id" party held at the Willingdon Gardens, Madanpura, on Monday evening.

The Hon. Mr. M. M. Pakvasa, Mr. B. G. Kher, Mr. S. A. Brelvi, Mr. Ali Bahadur Khan, Mr. Nagindas Master and Mr. S. K. Patil were among those present at the party which had been arranged by the Majlis-i-Ahrar and other Nationalist Muslim organisations.

Mr. Ali Bahadur Khan said:—

"The message of Id is the message of love, of unity. It calls upon the Mussalmans to sink their differences and to look upon everyone as their brother. Hardly, if ever, have we borne in mind this deeper significance of Id and rarely have we acted upon it. The organisations which are responsible for this function are determined to bring into action what is implicit in the Id celebrations and with that view we have invited the leaders of the Congress amongst us."

Mr. Bhulabhai Desai urged that religion should not be mixed up with politics. "Let Hindus, Muslims and Congressmen join in a conference and put down in black and white what we want", he suggested. "That will be the foundation for the future constitution. Let the Muslims, as the minority community, get reasonable safeguards. But once such a settlement is reached, we must stand together. There must be no talk of separate identity."

Mr. Bhulabhai continuing said "every Indian whether Muslim, Christian or Hindu, man or woman must never forget his duty towards his motherland. By being a soldier of India a Muslim will not be a less Muslim, neither a Hindu a less Hindu."

Referring to Mr. Jinnah's charge that Congress is only a Hindu organisation he said 'come with me to the Frontier and I will show you whether the Congress is only a Hindu organisation or an organization of Muslims as well. He suggested that the demands of Muslims should be framed in a conference of the representatives of Hindus. Muslims and the Congress and should be made a part and parcel of the constitution itself. But after that you must not say that you go your way and we go ours. You must be prepared to merge in the nation. For whatever happens we will never allow India to be vivisected."

He appealed to the Muslims to co-operate with the Congress in future action.

MINISTERIAL RESIGNATIONS

Sjt. B. G. Kher narrated the circumstances which led to the ministerial resignations. "We had not gone there to receive fat salaries. We accepted offices only with the intention of contributing our share in the struggle for freedom. As long as we held offices our actions were never inspired by communal interests."

RESIGNATION WITHDRAWN

Director Of Public Information To Continue In Office

(From Our Correspondent)

ALLAHABAD, Nov. 14.

An interesting situation from the journalistic point of view appears to have developed in the Public Information Department of the new U. P. Government. It appears that D. P. Mukherji, Director, public information who resigned after the resignation of the Congress Ministry because he was appointed by the Congress Ministry will now continue to hold the office under the new Government. Mr. Mukherji's resignation I learn was not accepted by the Governor and Mr. Mukherji has not "pressed" for its acceptance. The resignation probably was withdrawn on his recent visit to Allahabad. One journalist asked him whether he would now carry the anti-Congress Propaganda to which the Director reported to have replied "no."

RAJKOT-JASDAN RAILWAY LINE IS NON-PAYING

(From Our Correspondent.)

RAJKOT, Nov. 13.

"Your correspondent has been able to gather from reliable sources that the recent visit of the Maharaja of Morvi to Delhi a fortnight ago was in connection with the fighting out his case with the Railway Board concerning the construction of a Railway line between Rajkot and Jasdan by Nawanagar and Bhavnagar States. The plea advanced by the Morvi State is to effect that Rajkot to Jasdan line is non-paying from the financial point of view. Furthermore the existence of this line is bound to result in huge loss to the existing line of Morvi Railway between Rajkot and Wadhwan. It is also gathered that Railway Board of Simla has agreed to send one expert to investigate and report on the possibilities as well as the advisability of constructing the Rajkot-Jasdan Line. Another report says that Government of India is inviting counter replies from the States concerned to hear their case before deciding finally. In the meantime survey work of Said Project is in progress.

WHY THIS INVIDIOUS DISTINCTION?

Indian Seamen's Federation Chief On Differences Between Wages Of Br. Sailors And Nationals

LONDON, Nov. 13.

Apropos last Saturday's incident at Tilbury in which 76 Indian seamen refused service and were subsequently sentenced to imprisonment, Mr. Ali, Secretary of the All-India Seamen's Federation made the following statement to Reuter:—

"It is not our present intention to apply for bail, but to make representations in other directions."

He said that hitherto 20 Indian seamen had been gaoled in Cape Town, 60 to 70 in Durban, eight in Beira, 120 in London and an unspecified number in Glasgow and Liverpool, aggregating to over 300.

In an endeavour to get to the root of the trouble Reuter asked Mr. Ali a number of questions to which Mr. Ali replying said that at the outset at least 150 Indian seamen lost their lives by enemy action since the outbreak of the war. Many more were injured.

A fortnight after the outbreak of the war the Board of Trade had scheduled a scale of compensation in case of death at Rs. 3,000 for Indian seamen earning Rs. 30 to Rs. 39 per month and Rs. 5,000 for Indian seamen earning Rs. 40 to Rs. 60 per month and injuries at a percentage based on the degree of incapacitation.

This year and before the war the All-India Seamen's Federation had demanded for Indian seamen a fifty per cent increment in pay, the establishment of a Recruitment Committee and a basic scale of pay from all Indian ports. Nothing came of it.

On the outbreak of war the seamen demanded a hundred per cent increase in pay to average 70 shillings monthly, £10 war risks per annum and some seamen demanded an eight-hour-day. On October eight four ships sailed from Glasgow and after representations the Indian seamen received a hundred per cent increase in salary and £10 war risk bonus but the crews of other ships received nothing

There was no uniform agreement and rates were determined between ship and ship.

In Natal the majority of English seamen received a hundred per cent increase in pay and war risks approximating five to ten pounds while others again got nothing.

The crew sentenced at Tilbury on Saturday signed on in Bombay after the war started at 25 per cent increase in pay. When they arrived in Tilbury they found that other seamen had received a hundred per cent increment. They demanded the same.

Mr. Ali declared that British prisons are preferable to our forecastles and fifty thousand Indian Seamen are determined to court arrest in order to secure their demand.—Reuter.

ESSENTIALS FOR LAUNCHING C. D.

Madras Leaders' Appeal Against Hasty Action

SALEM, Nov. 13.

The people need not entertain any the slightest doubt that the work of the Congress Ministry in this Province during the past 27 months would be annulled by the Governor, who took up the administration under Section 93 of the Government of India Act of 1935 and they need not dream that toddy shops would be reopened in Salem and other districts where prohibition had been introduced. These were the assertions made by Mr. C. N. Muthuranga Mudaliar, M.L.A., (Central) and Mr. M. Baktavatsalam, ex-Parliamentary Secretary, Madras, at a public meeting here under the auspices of the District Congress Committee.

Explaining the circumstances that led to the resignation of the Congress Ministries, Mr. Mudaliar said, it was clear that the British Government was not desirous of winning the co-operation of the Indian people by their failure to accede to the claims of the Congress.

Resignation of the Ministries was but the first step of non-co-operation by the Congress with the British Government. The constitution was broken both at the Centre and at the Provinces.

But the people should not be hasty in thinking that the next step open to them was Civil Disobedience. Hindu-Muslim unity, unity among Congressmen and strict discipline among the people were essential before launching upon a campaign of Civil Disobedience in the country. Mahatma Gandhi and the Working Committee of the Indian National Congress knew the proper time for taking such a step and it behoved the people of the country to have implicit faith in their leadership.—A. DEPUTY ADVISERS FOR U. P.?

Move To Include Muslim Member

(From Our Correspondent.)

ALLAHABAD, Nov. 14.

The absence of any Muslim adviser to the Governors in the new Government appears to have been subject to some comment in Government circles. It appears that Mr. Pannalal Srivastava, the Chief Secretary was included among the advisers by virtue of his seniority, equally senior officer not being available among the Muslims.

There is a suggestion to appoint at least one Muslim as "deputy adviser" to the Governor as it is being said that the work which has devolved on the new Government is so heavy that probably three advisers to the Governor might not be able to cope with it and each of these three advisers might have one deputy adviser to assist him in his work.

The suggestion still seems to be in a nebulous form, but if it materializes it will also mean a few more jobs for European I.C.S. officers, besides providing for a Muslim Deputy Adviser.

The financial condition of the new Government, however, is not encouraging enough for such a step, as it appears, the budget framed for the current year is a heavily deficit one and the Governor, assisted by his Advisers is carefully scrutinising it with a view to economy.

It is likely to be balanced before it is sent to the Governor-General who, it is understood has advised the Governors of those provinces where the constitution is suspended to send their budgets to him for examination.

Message Of Islam

JINNAH STRESSES NEED OF DISCIPLINE IN SERVICE TO COUNTRY

In the course of the speech he broadcast from the Bombay Station of the All-India Radio on Monday, Mr. M. A. Jinnah said:—

The discipline of the Ramzan fast and prayer will culminate to-day an immortal meekness of heart before God, but it shall not be the meekness of a weak heart, and they who would think so are doing wrong both to God and to the Prophet, for it is the outstanding paradox of all religions that the humble shall be the strong and it is of particular significance in the case of Islam, for Islam, as you all know, really means action.

The discipline of Ramzan was designed by our Prophet to give us the necessary strength for action. And action implies society of man. When our Prophet preached action he did not have in mind only the solitary life of a single human being, the deeds he accomplishes only within himself, the prayer and all it involves spiritually.

According to Holy Quran a very real connection exists between prayer and life. You will remember how many and wonderful are the opportunities given to us to meet our fellow beings, to study them, to understand them, and through understanding serve them and you will notice that all these opportunities have been created by laying down the law for prayers.

POSITIVE DUTY

Man has indeed been called God's Caliph in the Quran, and if that description of man is to be of any significance it imposes upon us a duty to follow the Quran, to behave towards others as God behaves towards his mankind. In the widest sense of the word, this duty is the duty to love and to forbear. And this, believe me, is not a negative duty but a positive one.

If we have any faith in love and toleration towards God's children, to whatever community they may belong, we must act upon that faith in the daily round of our simple duties and unobtrusive pieties. On this day of Id, there will be no worthy manifestation of the spirit that is kindled in us through fast and prayer than to resolve to bring about a complete harmony within our household, within our community and within our country with all its variety of religion and creeds and to work, whether in private life or public, for no selfish ends but for the greater good of all our countrymen and finally of all human beings.

All our leaders both Muslims and Hindus continue to be pained at communal strife. I shall not enter into the history of its causes but there will arise moments when the minds of men will be worked up and when differences will assume the character of a conflict. It is at such moments that I shall ask you to remember your Id prayer and to reflect for a while if we could not avoid them in the light of the guidance given to us by our Quran and that mighty spirit which is Islam. I would ask you to remember in these moments that no injunction is considered by our holy Prophet more imperative or more divinely binding than the devout but supreme realisation of our duty of love and toleration towards all other human beings.

All social regeneration and political freedom must finally depend on something that has a deeper meaning in life. And that, if you will allow me to say so, is Islam and Islamic spirit. It is not great speeches and big conferences only that make politics. Several young men have been coming to me to know how they could serve their country.

Well young friends, if I touch upon politics to-night, it is only to tell you, as a word of advice that we have our rights and our claims in a future India. But we shall not be obstinate about them for obstinacy will be the negation of that spirit of love and toleration which should fall upon us on this Id day and whose blessings the Prophet commands us to communicate to others. But each one of us can serve our country by disciplining himself and discipline is the essence of this holy period.

I am coming to the end of my brief talk. As I do so, I remember John Morley's book on "compromise". I usually dislike recommending books to young people, but I think you all ought to read that book not only once but over and over again. There is a good chapter in it on the limits of compromise, and the lesson it teaches regarding the pursuit of truth and the limitations on our actions in practice are worth pondering over.

In the pursuit of truth and the cultivation of beliefs we should be guided by our rational interpretation of the Quran and if our devotion to truth is single-minded we shall, in our own measure, achieve our goal. In the translation of this truth into practice, however, we shall be content with so much, and so much only, as we can achieve without encroaching on the rights of others, while at the same time not ceasing our efforts always to achieve more.

Finally I would urge you never to forget

"That Islam expects every Muslim to do his duty by his people."

"WEAK POLICY" OF SIND GOVT. CRITICISED

Governor Urged To Exercise His Special Powers

SUKKUR, Nov. 14.

Resolutions condemning "the weak policy" of the Sind Government which had resulted in the prevalence of general lawlessness in the province with a consequent sense of insecurity of life and property, declaring that the Government had forfeited all confidence of the Hindu minority and calling upon the Government to take immediate steps to put an end to this deplorable state of affairs in the province and appealing to the Governor to exercise his special powers in respect of the protection of the minority community were passed at the Sind Hindu Conference held here. Doctor B. S. Moonje presided.

In the event of the Government failing to redress the Hindus' grievances the Conference urged the two Hindu Ministers, the one Hindu Parliamentary Secretary and the Deputy Speaker, Miss Jethi Sipahimilani (Congressite) to resign their offices and called upon the Hindu members of the Assembly to withdraw their support to the Ministry.—A.
